

Working time account

---

The working hours recorded are entered in a list in the working time account and can be edited by the HR department. The working hours recorded are calculated on the basis of the ordinary working hours stored in the working time model which results in the total hours worked, displaying overtime or undertime.

Example: The employee worked from Monday to Thursday but not Friday. This results in a difference of 05.59 hours.